Module I: Major ideas, concepts, theories & social science perspectives on corruption (political science; anthropology; sociology; psychology)

Giorgi Chkhreidze is a Chief of Party at USAID supported Rule of Law Program. Giorgi is a former Chairman of Georgian Young Lawyers' Association. He holds LLM in international human rights from University of the West of England (UWE). Giorgi is a co-author of Georgia's criminal procedure code.

Module II: Legal side of corruption: from petty corruption to transnational crime; organizations fighting corruption at national & transnational levels

Zurab Sanikidze is a Head of Analytical Department at the Ministry of Justice of Georgia. He holds an LLM degree in Transnational Crime and Justice from United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute, in Turin. Zurab is ex officio Secretary of Inter-Agency coordination council in fighting with corruption.

Module III: Compliance in government, business and civil society; private corruption

Tata Khetaguri is a Head of Parliament of Georgia's budgetary office. Tata holds a Master's Degree in Economics from International School of Economics (ISET), in Tbilisi. Previously, she served as an auditor of the State chamber of audit. Tata teaches Fiscal economics at International Black Sea University; and Managerial Economics at Tbilisi State University.

Module IV: Good Governance

Levan Avalishvili is a Programs director and a co-founder of the Institute for Development of Freedom of Information (IDFI). Levan holds Master's degree in History from Tbilisi State University. Levan is an advocate for open government and has extensive experience in teaching civil servants and NGO activists various freedom of information and transparency topics.

Module V: E-governance in fighting corruption

Nata Goderdzishvili is a Head of Legal department at Georgia's Data exchange agency (DEA). Nata holds LLM degree in international law from Georgian-American University. She was awarded with Global information assurance certificate by SANS Institute.

Module VI: Corruption & Politics

Levan Natroshvili manages programs related to elections at Transparency International Georgia. Levan holds a Master's degree in diplomacy and international trade from University of Kentucky. He is the author of numerous articles related to elections and politics.

Module VII: Why certain countries succeed in fighting corruption?

Giorgi Khishtovani is a Research Director at Policy and Management Consulting Group (PMCG) and an Associate Professor of finance at the Business School of Ilia State University. Giorgi holds PhD in Economics from University of Bremen.

Module VIII: Modern whistleblowing & investigative journalism

Ekaterine Tsimakuridze is leading the program on systemic reform of rule of law and protection of human rights at Georgian Young Lawyers' Association. Ekaterine holds a Master's degree in Rule of law and democratic governance from Ohio Northern University. She has extensive experience in training professionals in media law and freedom of expression.